Telegraphic.—The following poetry, among the multitudes of rhymes and effusions on the Telegraph, is from the pen of our townsman Henry G. Perry, Esq., and is worthy of notice, as being written and published five years ago, before the project of laying the Atlantic Cable was thought of. It will be seen that the gift of prophecy "came off the spirit of his dream," and the present spanning of the ocean by the subtle fluid, was predicted as a thing for the future to boast of. The measure is exultant and a good imitation of the irregular clicking and drumming of the batteries.

TELEGRAPHY.
BY HENRY G. PERRY.
(Communicated by A. D. H. to "The Western Mail.")

Clicking, clicking, ticking, ticking,
Ting, tangle and hum,
By night, in light, in ray of day,
I humming, go and come,
Conveying, conveying, conveying,
With message abroad or home.

Time not long since, as Tempest Prince,
I wielded a giant wand,
Smote and sent as I earthward went
Satanical pulses to play;
Oak and rock, dome and flock, I scathed and shook
With ruin, death and dismay.

But when the Philosopher Sage,
By silken band and tinsel strand,
Brought down my law defiant rage
Alight to the human hand,
And, perceiving skill, striving, beating will,
Tamed to man's man's own command.

Darting now o'er field and fount,
I skip, I leap, I bound,
I skip, I leap, I bound, I bound,
I skip, I leap, I bound, I bound,
I skip, I leap, I bound, I bound,
I skip, I leap, I bound, I bound.

Northward, Southward, East and West,
Right prompt, or wrong arrest;
Marked, marked, marked, marked,
Accidents and tortuous,
I dot and dash array;
Unaided truth, or speculation,
In half second's annihilation,
Through through the thousand miles away.

At me now though Nations wonder,
And my destiny may ponder,
I have Ocean will I span,
Interlinking all the land.

Now the Sun,
Norway's rugged, grey bleak
Shall speak the sunny Greek,
Yankee Africa, and
Orient and Adriatic,
Britain, Germany, Swift and Russ,
French, Dutch, Don, Dane and Pruss,
And the Hind.

In communication all connect,
Make Earth's parts (though seas beset)
All as one.

Then it's buzz and hum,
And tinkle and thrum,
No creating my right can compete;
With thought, human thought,
And the world of my being—BE PAPER!

So a little I'll not delay,
I come, I come,
I come, I come, I come, I come,
I come, I come, I come, I come,
I come, I come, I come, I come,
I come, I come, I come, I come.

MORNING LEADER.
RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The American Board.
The receipts of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions for the month of July were uncommonly large, amounting to $51,335. Massachusetts furnishes $18,304 of this sum, and New York $8,382. From foreign lands and missionary stations $1,218 was contributed, including $371 from the Sandwich Islands and $309 from Montreal. The total receipts of the Board for the financial year, ending July 31, have been $3,476.

Hindoo Idols Sent to America.
A letter written by Rev. Wm. Butler, a missionary of the American M. E. Church, in India, gives assurance that a new era has already opened in the great Hindoo Empire of the East. English rule, he thinks, will eventually prevail there, and the natives will rejoice in the general inauguration of the institutions of civilization. Already he finds it possible to preach the Gospel to the natives, without hindrance, and with certain effect. He says:

We have every opportunity that could be desired for converting ourselves in all the departments of our great work. We have Hindoostan preaching in the house and the bazaar—about six times a week—we have Hindoostan meetings; then we have a school in the bazaar, in fact, every appliance in the way of training for our future work, we enjoy here. And I fully expect that when we go down to our stations in November or December, that all of us will be ready to begin more or less feebly to use the language, and speak to the people "the words of this life."

The war has had the effect to pull down many a graven image, in which the superstitious natives had confidence as the representatives of Deity. When the worshippers of Vishnu see these stocks decorated by the Christians with impunity, they will lose respect for them, and seek some more reasonable faith. Mr. Butler has sent home many of these idols for exhibition in this country. He writes:

Four of the idols are uninjured; they are of marble, and some of them especially well executed. These four are Ganes, Boddhi, Balgo, and Hanuman. The others, Bala, wife of Krishna, Mahadevi, and others, have been injured by the Sepoys of the Mohammedan regiments. Besides "the gods," you will find other objects of interest; among them are two marble statues which I took out of the Jamma Masjid, bearing the Mohammedan seal, the print of Mohammed's hand and foot, miraculously impressed in them. These slabs have been regarded by the followers of "the false prophet" with religious veneration.

You will also find a very valuable copy of the Koran, annotated with illuminated letters, which was also taken out of the Jamma Masjid, and a copy of a book belonging to one of the natives of Delhi. It is a book of the Koran, and the person who "looted" it in the palace, took the four emeralds which were suspended at the corners, and not valuing the opulent it, passed it into my hands, and so I sent it to you as a relic of the house of Timur. There is also a native brick dress, and of course a piece of shell and round shot from the "battle field," and a fragment of the Jamma Masjid are added to the collection. The interest of these objects will increase in time. They are the last of the old world, and the last of the old world.

Each of the gods sent has actually been worshipped by millions of dark idolaters. Every object forwarded I have attached a brief memoir.

Important Movement Among Israelites.
The recent conversion of the new synagogue, Oheb Shalom, in Hanover street, has inaugurated an important reformatory movement among the Israelites in this city. The members of the congregation, who are of the orthodox school, and strictly observed its precepts and ceremonies, have now discarded some of the fundamental principles of their faith, and abandoned its old and established form of worship.

Besides the introduction of an organ and the singing of hymns in a vernacular tongue, they have adopted a prayer book which gives relief to the heart, and is a relief to the religious sentiment which is beginning to take its way among a large portion of that ancient people. The dogma of a millennium, in a somewhat modified form, is a prominent feature of the new prayer book. These radical changes among the people of Israel, who have for so many centuries adhered to the strict faith of their fathers, and who are now, in the midst of the great reformation, are a relief to the religious sentiment which is beginning to take its way among a large portion of that ancient people.

Discovery of Thirty Thousand Native Christians on an Indian Island.—We see it in the London Standard of the 27th inst. that thirty thousand native Christians have recently been found upon an island north of Celebes. It has been rumored for a time that there was a Christian people forgotten and forsaken, who, however, were not found until the missionaries first landed on the island they met with a school teacher and his pupils, who reported the existence of the Christian people. The island, which is called the "Island of the Christians," is a small island, and is situated in the Malay Archipelago. The Dutch have for years had political rule in this region. This may account for the original introduction of Christianity among this people, and for the fact that the Heidelberg Catechism was still found in their possession. But still, the particular time and circumstances in which this introduction took place, may well challenge special attention, and elicit investigation from those who have the leisure and facilities for prosecuting it.—German Reform Messenger.

Methodists in New England.—From minutes of the several conferences in the New England States, it appears that there are, in round numbers, about thirteen thousand members of the Methodist Church in New England, and the increase of the past year is about ten thousand, including those on probation.

The Lutheran Church in the U. S.—The Lutheran Church in the United States numbers about 175,000 communicants, 2,000 congregations and 1,500 ministers. Its members are found chiefly in the Middle and Western States, although there are a few congregations in New England, and quite a considerable number in Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, as also in Western Texas.

Ireland the Land of Plenty.
The following harvest report is from Cork, Ireland:

The fields are already busy on all sides, and a truly golden harvest is falling beneath its store. The crops of all kinds are so abundant and so entirely free from any appearance of disease or plagues, that this may be called the best year of plenty since the famine. The yield of all produce is far beyond the measure of the last years we have had for a long time, and the country may at length congratulate itself in the assurance that its trials are at an end. Even the potato crops, which are so much the subject of the anxiety and sweetness of its best days. In point of prosperity, Ireland need envy no country in Europe at this moment.

The Life of Patents.
The following is the list of patents issued to citizens of Ohio from the United States Patent Office for the week ending August 24th, each bearing that date:

James Ingerson, of Grafton, Ohio—For improvement in running gear for railroad cars.

Daniel B. Neal, of Mount Gilead, Ohio—For improvement in harrows.

Honorable Whitman, of Kingsville, Ohio—For improvement in corn planters.

John W. Fleeter, of New Lexington, O.—For improved writing desk.

James Campbell, of V. B. Lightizer, and Patrick S. Shuman, of Shuman, Ohio—For improvement in coupling of railroad cars.

William H. Main, of Liverpool, Ohio—For improvement in rotary harrows.

The following are the patents issued the previous week:

A. Harris, of Ravenna, Ohio—For improved clothes rack.

George E. Hicks, of Cleveland, Ohio—For improvement in telegraphic instruments.

Z. R. Richmond, of Mansfield, Ohio—For improvement in seeding machines.

Marcus E. Ellsworth, of Hudson, Ohio—For improvement in harvesters.

Stock Supplies.—The shipments of stock during the present week have been unusually large. Eighty-seven car loads of Ohio and Kentucky cattle were sent over the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, for the New York market, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings.—Columbian Statesman.

Considerable excitement was created among our business men yesterday on receipt of the intelligence that Warren County money was discredited. It appears that the bills of that bank were first thrown out by the New York brokers yesterday morning. A large quantity of the money is in circulation in this and the adjoining counties. Bill holders had better not be hasty in making exchanges. The Bank may be able to redeem its issues. It has all along been claimed by the Warren people that it is in a perfectly sound condition.—Erie Bulletin.
